

Scenario One

You just finished your presentation for the 4-H Demonstration contest at the county fair. You have worked really hard on this and practiced multiple times. During the demonstration you stumbled over your words and left out a step. After the demonstration you received a text message from an unfamiliar number that said “Way to choke.”

1. Why is this cyberbullying?
2. What do you do in response?

Scenario Two

You just received a text message with a picture of your new classmate Sam. Over the weekend Sam got a new haircut. The message with the picture reads “Now I’m even more confused if this kid is a boy or a girl. Send it on!”

1. Why is this cyberbullying?
2. What do you do in response?

Scenario Three

You just received an invitation to Like a page on Facebook called “Courtney is a Loser.” Courtney goes to your school and just broke up with her boyfriend. Several of your classmates have liked the page and are posting comments and pictures about Courtney.

1. Why is this cyberbullying?
2. What do you do in response?